About Conover School:

Conover School is a public separate school for students with disabilities located in Conover, North Carolina. Conover School serves three school systems under the administration of the Newton-Conover City School System. Conover School has approximately 130 students enrolled ranging in age from 3 to 21. The students are divided into sixteen homerooms. The classes are categorized into the following: Preschool, Elementary Age, Middle School Age, and High School Age.

The staff is committed to using best practice teaching techniques, maintaining a safe and orderly environment to support the mission of Conover School. Conover School Staff believes that each student is an individual with unique strengths and skills. Through collaborative efforts of staff, parents, community service providers, and students, individualized education programs (IEP) are developed annually. The student's IEP is based on his/her strengths, needs, and interests. In on-campus and off-campus instruction all students work toward functional independence in their environments.
